He's fearless in the face of kindergarten. Ask him what he's looking forward to and he doesn't hesitate to answer. Going to the big playground, eating in the cafeteria, working on reading and math, and going to Friday night football games.

Mom knows this is the start of something big. The right time to start preparing him for the future. Building the confidence he needs to succeed. Happy to have a school that's an extension of the values they're teaching at home.

At Metro Christian Academy, we partner with families to create a community that lifts up our students while intellectually equipping them for a vibrant future rooted in Christ.
